Ian Currie at his weather station

PRICE: £20.00 per person

RSVP

SPEAKER: Ian Currie BA, FR Met S, Cert.Ed, is a Fellow of the Royal Meteorological Society and can be heard regularly on BBC Radio Surrey and Sussex with forecasts for gardeners and growers and for 18 years was the weather columnist for the national magazine Garden News. Ian also gives regular forecasts to vineyards in Sussex and Kent. He will speak about THE DAY IT RAINED CRABS AND FROGS: Falls of coal and coke; crabs and frogs hurtling from the skies and even the proverbial raining cats and dogs. Hail as big as grapefruits and bizarre ball lightning, The Moon and Sun turning blue and wonderful circles, arcs and pillars adorning the heavens. These are not figments of a vivid imagination but are examples of real, live weather events. Whether it is ball lightning, red rainbows, the Northern Lights, or flying saucer clouds this talk will provide the explanation for seemingly bizarre phenomena and show that many of these fascinating curiosities can occur locally

When booking, please indicate if you prefer a vegetarian meal and/or whether you would like cheese and biscuits instead of dessert. The choice cannot be made on the night. If you are unsure of your order the booking list will be available with Alan Milnes, the Treasurer.

To book and indicate your choices, which needs to be by noon on Monday 30th May, please phone Ian Galletti on 01959 562075 or, preferably send him an email to iangalletti@btinternet.com.

Membership subscriptions for 2017/18 are now overdue but could be handed to the Treasurer, included with your meal cheque; alternatively, if you are not attending the meeting and haven't yet paid please send a cheque for £12.50 each to Alan Milnes, 7, Park View, Seal Hollow Road SEVENOAKS, Kent, TN13 3BU but be sure to make it payable to the "Sevenoaks Supper Club".

Happy New Year
